CRC HOLDS POST-RESULTS ADVICE DAYS FOR STUDENTS

Waiting for your exam results? Confused about the future? It's a tough time for students, but it's not too late to enrol on a course at Cambridge Regional College and take the first steps on the path to a great career.

The College is holding two post-results Advice Days this month, on 27 and 31 August, to offer students expert guidance in exploring all the different options open to them. And with full-time and part-time courses still available for this September and a wide range of Apprenticeship programmes, from sport to beauty therapy, there really is something for everyone.

Jackie Cannell, Head of Learner Services at CRC, said: "This is a nervous time for many young people and it is important that they are clear about the options available to them. Sometimes results can mean a change of plan, and we want to let students know that there are still many possibilities and choices available.

"A full-time vocational course can open the doors to all sorts of interesting careers, and an Apprenticeship is a great alternative for someone who wants to go straight into the workplace and earn while they learn.

"But it's important to seek advice from qualified staff as soon as possible and that's why anyone concerned about their grades should come and talk to us at the Advice Days."

The College Advice Days take place on Friday, 27 August and Tuesday, 31 August, from 9.30am to 1pm, at the Science Park Campus in King's Hedges Road. Just turn up – we'll be happy to help!

A team of careers and education advisors will be on hand to provide students with information and advice on the next step in their education, and tutors and lecturers will be available to talk about courses and apprenticeships on offer.

Students will also be able to find out about other aspects of College life, such as transport, facilities and financial issues, and have a look round the superbly-equipped campus.
