An exciting course added last year is the BTEC First Diploma in Art & Design 19+ Adult Route. It is aimed at adults returning to education and gives the opportunity to gain skills in practical Art & Design activities, interpersonal and academic areas. This course covers units such as 2D/3D Communication, Contextual Studies, Painting & Textiles, History of Art, as well as running several gallery visits. Free tuition may be available on this course if the applicant has not already a first full Level 2 qualification.

Rachel Dormor is Sector Leader for Art & Design at CRC. She said, “Cambridge Regional College has amazing facilities and a real track record of helping students to fulfill their potential”.

A qualification in Art & Design can lead to employment in fields such as Graphic Design, Gallery Management, Industrial Design and Fashion, with employers in the public and private sectors. All programmes offer a progression route to higher-level studies at art school or university. Rachel Dormor has recently been selected for Origin: The London Craft Fair this October, as well as being awarded funding from the Arts Council to help her develop her pottery show.

All courses are purpose-built Art & Design studios, where students enjoy the very best teaching, in outstanding facilities.

Places are still available on full and part-time courses. Enrolment for full-time courses continues throughout September and part-time courses start on 17th September, so don't hesitate to contact us! In addition to Art & Design, Cambridge Regional College offers a wide range of courses in areas such as Accounting, Administration, Childcare, Construction, Engineering and Hairdressing.
