Centre of Excellence Award for Cambridge Regional College's Hair Academy

25 November 2009

Cambridge Regional College's new graduate salon has received a Centre of Excellence award from Wella – one of just 30 in the country.

The award was presented to the College just after celebrity hair stylist Joshua Galvin officially opened the College's state of the art hair salon complex, run in partnership with the prestigious Francesco Group.

Paul Scocroft of Wella, who handed the award to Principal Rick Dearing, said: "This award recognises the very, very high standards here at Cambridge Regional College – not just the facilities but the standards of work and the standards of teaching."

Earlier, Joshua Galvin, the 'Godfather of Hairdressing', who has been in the business for more than 50 years, told students the facilities they had would be the envy of many salon-owners.

With a 16-seat Graduate hair salon and five training salons, the academy is part of the College's £23m development of its Hair, Beauty, Catering and Hospitality sections to provide leading edge teaching facilities for its students.

The College also has a Graduate Beauty Salon, providing the very best in beauty care and treatments by qualified students. Both salons are open to the public and offer the latest in hair and beauty techniques. The Graduate Hair Salon offers a wide range of hair treatments, colouring and modern cuts at affordable prices, with professional hair stylists using a range of professional hair products from the Wella High Hair and SP hair care range.

The new Graduate Beauty Salon also offers an extensive range of beauty and spa treatments at affordable prices. The Salon is run in partnership with the well known Thalgo Group, experts in Marine Cosmetology & Spa Therapies. Therapists use a range of professional Thalgo and LCN products to provide the ultimate pampering experience.
