CAMBRIDGE REGIONAL COLLEGE APPRENTICES EXCEL IN HAIR STYLING EVENT

18 January 2010

Apprentice hairdressers put on the glitz at Cambridge Regional College for an evening of glamour and style as they competed to be the best in their year.

Michael Lee's winning entry

In an event watched by employers from some of the region's top hair salons, the students demonstrated their skills by designing hair and make-up styles to wow the judges.

The theme for the Advanced Apprentices was Fantasy Avant Garde, with First Year Apprentices taking Glam Rock Chic as their theme for some spectacular looks.

In previous years, the winners of the competition have gone on to take national honours and the top three from each group will compete in a national hairdressing competition in Blackpool in March.

Michael Lee from the Wacky Hair Company took first in the Advanced Apprentices category, while second place was shared by Steve Anderson from Anderson's Hair and Aimee Corteen of Directors Hair. Katie White from KW Hairdressing was fourth.

Six finalists were chosen from the First Year Apprentices, of whom three will be shortlisted for the national competition: Charlie Rawles (Directors Hair), Charlotte Burgess (The Wacky Hair Company), Ellie Morris (The Wacky Hair Company), Ellie Fox (H&S Hairstyling), Jessie Saywell (Maverick), and Amy Payne (Stilo Hair & Beauty.)
